(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Count Ber-storff, the German ambassador, today expressed in person to Secretary Bryan his deep regret that the events of the war had led to the loss of so many American lives. The phrases used were those of the ambassador contained in a written statement given out after his call.

Whether the expression was made in accordance with instructions from Berlin, was not stated. It was the first statement of its kind since American lives were lost in the Falck and the Guilford and no specific mention was made of the Lusitania incident, the impression being valued that the statement was the un-brood expression which diplomatic representatives are permitted to make when a disaster occurs to the citizens of a friendly country.

The action of the German ambassador, however, will have little effect on the policy to be pursued. It was said, unofficially, that the German government of Atlanta, expressing a feeling of respect for the standing of the city and its people, and for the sympathy with the situation and the relations and the dead.

And we further express our utmost respect to the wisdom of President Johnson in his management of this most delicate situation, and we trust that it will be managed so as to be a blessing with honor to our national institutions.

Very respectfully,
The United Ministers Association,
Charles O. Jones and H. M. Dillouse.

AMERICANS ARE LEAVING

It would be to reverse the idea and give a chance for people for people who have come to Atlanta to leave recently. Acquaintance with your neighbor and all that, you know, men that might help in a business way, men, you're like to know them, and you're like to know them, but just don't know because you never saw them. You know, you're like to know them, you're like to know them. Your life, perhaps, you're like to know more people in Atlanta. "She'll meet me," you're like to know more people with the flowers face. "And this girl I will know you presently."

"Bring your present." "You won't get any wedding presents unless you know me."

GEORGIA OSTEOPATHS

MEET IN CORDELE, MAY 14

Dr. Louisa Burns, of Chicago, Among Those Who Will Deliver Lectures

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
CORDELE, Ga., May 10.—One of the greatest woman osteopaths in the world will be the guest of honor at the annual convention of the Georgia Osteopathic association, which will convene May 14 and 15 at Cordelle. She is Dr. Louisa Burns, author, scientist, teacher and research worker. Dr. Burns is a member of the staff of the Osteopathic Research Institute, which is located in Chicago. In her lecture at Cordelle she will explain the practical application in general practice of the results of research experiments.

Mayor Gordon Jones, of Cordelle, will extend the address of welcome to more than a hundred osteopathic physicians, surgeons and specialists from Georgia and neighboring states. The response will be made by Dr. M. C. Hardin, of Atlanta. The Rev. C. B. Anthony will give the invocation. Dr. J. W. Elliott, of Cordelle, president of the association, will deliver his annual address.

Instead of being a treatment limited to chronic diseases, as some people think, Dr. H. H. Trimble, president, will claim that it is applicable to the treatment of all acute diseases. Dr. Elizabeth Broach will explain how osteopathy treats heart disease. Dr. F. E. Keefe, of Pittsburg, will speak on post-graduate work. Dr. John W. F. Peoples, of Atlanta, will read a paper on public health education. Dr. Charles C. Smith will speak on rheumatism. Dr. H. G. Gripe, of Atlanta, on laboratory diagnosis. Dr. Muir Turner, of Savannah, on pellagra and Dr. William R. Aspler on diet.

The public is not to be deceived from the entire convention. As the previous mentioned papers, are all technical, Friday evening has been set apart for a non-technical public lecture by Dr. R. W. Blackman, of Savannah. One of the largest banquets given in Cordelle for years will follow on Saturday. Dr. Elliott will be the host and his delegates and a number of prominent citizens. There will be about two hundred covers.

Demonstrations of osteopathic technique will be given by the following: Dr. Albert A. Jells, of Macon, Dr. J. W. Elliott, of Cordelle, Dr. Charles E. Ellet, Dr. T. D. Seay, of Dublin; Dr. M. R. Fahner, of Atlanta. All will use modern methods. The lecture will be read by Dr. N. B. Riley, of Rome. In the afternoon the "Miss Cure" will be explained by Dr. W. B. Blackman, of Atlanta. Dr. M. C. Hardin will speak on reflexes.

ASSERTS COURTS INCLINE TO FAVOR CORPORATIONS

Justice Clark, of North Carolina, Gives Reasons for Cause of Industrial Unrest

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 10.—The courts are too much inclined to favor corporations in litigation, with the result that judges and lawyers have not kept pace with the legislative enactments. This trend of public opinion in the belief of Walter Clark, chief justice of the North Carolina supreme court, who testified today before the industrial relations commission.

Justice Clark was the first witness called in the commission's investigation of the relation between labor and law. Other prominent baristers followed him on the stand.

"What is responsible for the apparent reluctance of laboring men as individuals and labor organizations to bring issues to the courts?" Justice Clark was asked.

"My observation is," he replied "that as a rule the courts are slow to adopt progressive economic ideas and advance legislation enacted. Courts ordinarily are composed of elderly men, many of them, as lawyers, have been employed by great corporations, and when they reach the bench they are unconsciously biased by the views they held at the bar."

"How can this be modified?"
"Only by the slow process of education and development of public opinion. As older men pass away, their places on the bench may be taken by younger men imbued with progressive ideas of the time."

Justice Clark referred to a child labor decision in North Carolina, in which he held a corporation responsible for injury to an eight-year-old child.

"This decision was in advance of existing law," he said. "I took the ground that we must consider economic conditions and decide it on the grounds of justice and common sense."

The witness also he disagreed with the principle underlying the Dunbury haters' decision and similar cases recently decided. He declared labor should have the same right to organize that capital has and that "there is no reason why labor should be held collectively responsible."

"Corruption of power by the courts of any department of government," he added, "is a justifiable cause for unrest among any sovereign people."

DIRECTORS OF CHAMBER TO DISCUSS SCHOOLS

The condition of Atlanta's public school buildings will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It is probable President M. R. W. Brown will appoint a committee to study conditions in the schools, with special reference to the conditions existing to prevail next fall, and to probe generally the school situation.

AUSTRIAN BARON BLAMES ENGLAND FOR SHIP'S LOSS

Von Welden Declares Lusitania Should Have Had Convoy of British Vessels

Baron Von Welden, an exiled Austrian nobleman, stopping at the Piedmont, commenting on the torpedoing of the Lusitania by the German submarine, said he thought the nation entirely within her rights when she sank the great ship.

He lays the blame on England, saying the Lusitania should have been protected on her Atlantic trip by a convoy of British vessels.

The baron expresses regret that the German submarine should have caused the death of so many non-combatants, but declares they were not on the ground to keep off the boat. He believes the Transatlantic ship sailed, will suffer the same fate.

COMMERCIAL TRAFFIC IN SOUTH SHOWS INCREASE

Commercial traffic in the south has increased in the first of the year, according to H. E. Maynard and J. E. Dennison, of New York, traffic officials of the Clyde Steamship company.

This improvement, both officials say, is unprecedented in southern trade history, and is taken as an indication that business throughout the southern states is normal again.

LYRIC THEATER WILL BE MADE MUSICAL COMEDY HOUSE MAY 17.

Berton Musical Company Will Begin Season and House Will Remain Open if Atlanta Wants It

The Lyric theater, which has been more or less "dark" the entire season, will open Monday, May 17, as a musical comedy house, and as long as the patronage warrants it will furnish Atlanta theatergoers with high class musical comedies every week.

Jaik Wells has closed a contract with the Berton Musical company, a popular troupe of over thirty people, which has been playing the east and southwest for the last two years. There is a chorus of sixteen girls, capable comedians and a stage director of Broadway experience.

It is planned to present the most recent and popular musical shows, farces, burlesques, comic operas or two acts a week at the Lyric. The names of the shows, the personnel of the company, dates as to matinee and night performances and prices, will be announced later. It is the intention of the company to insure themselves this entire season. Jaik Wells is prepared to make the Lyric a permanent musical house if Atlanta wants it and to furnish attractions that will be high class in music, costume, stage effects and acting.

"We feel," said Hugh Cardon, Mr. Wells' representative in Atlanta, "that we want to make the Lyric a place where the theatrical season just over has been, rather depressing. There was a dearth of good shows coming to Atlanta, and few of them were good musical comedies. We all like vaudeville, but the public gets tired of the Lyric. The Lyric is going to be light and bright and tuneful. We are prepared to spend money to produce them and we have contracted with a company that makes for its pretty girls, its funny comedians and its good voices. We hope to give Atlanta something that will please her people and make them forget the war for a while and laugh instead. If we can reproduce the success of the old Elton Musical Comedy company we are going to do it. We'll do our part. Let Atlanta do hers."

COUNCILMEN ARE BACK FROM WESTERN TRIP

J. N. Renfro and Frank Reynolds Inspected Wood Block Paving in Other Cities

Councilmen J. N. Renfro and Frank Reynolds, of the street committee of council, and Karl W. Brittain and A. P. McClellan, of the city construction department, have returned after a trip through a number of cities of the middle west, made for the purpose of inspecting wood block pavements.

Councilman Renfro declares he was convinced that wood block paving can be laid with an asphalt filler that will prevent the annoying ruts and holes.

The fact that horses slip and fall and automobiles skid on the wood block pavements here is the only complaint against them, says the councilman, and that absolutely eliminated the block is laid after the manner now being used by the street departments of Kansas and Kentucky.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR GRADING AT LAKEWOOD

Nichols Contracting Company Will Grade Sites for Three Fair Buildings

The Nichols Contracting company, as the lowest of seven bidders, was awarded the contract Monday morning for the grading of sites for three of the South-eastern Fair association's buildings at Lakewood.

The figures were not made public by the building committee, which made the award. The grading work is expected to begin within a few days.

Three building sites, each covering about an acre of ground, will be prepared in the southwest portion of the city's Lakewood property on the plateau overlooking the lake and directly behind the Fair ball home.

The committee of architects, which volunteered its services to the fair association, is busy preparing the plans for the three buildings to be erected this year. Several sets of plans are being made, but none have yet been formally adopted.

R. M. Striplin, of Meridian, Miss., former manager of the successful Alabama-Mississippi fair, who has been named manager of the Southeastern fair, arrived in the city Monday morning and met with the building committee. Mr. Striplin made a trip to the Lakewood grounds with the committee.

Mr. Striplin, who is a fair manager of much experience, was enthusiastic over the prospects for a permanent fair in Atlanta, which will soon rival the famous Dallas fair.

He declared he will devote all of his time to the fair work, and is confident Atlanta will have a fair of which it can well be proud in October, despite the short time the city has to prepare for it.

The incorporators of the Nichols bank are C. C. Merriam, of Waycross; E. E. Burkett, W. B. Stone, H. Altman, W. H. Dyer, Dan Hall, John Burkett, Mrs. Temple Ryals, A. G. Small, D. H. Mewks and L. Seligman, all of Nichols.

Thousands of tire dealers have been told to sell tires on a "Fair List" basis.

The Verdict

—convincingly and overwhelmingly for Goodrich

The B. F. Goodrich Company alone through the daily press of January 31st gave to the consuming public the most sweeping reduction ever made in tire prices. This established the only genuine Fair-List in existence on non-skid tires today.

Goodrich prices were dated February 1st, in ordinary course. Other tires were reduced in prices a few days later and the reduction dated back to February 1st.

Every real price-reduction on tires has followed the lead of Goodrich. We knew we were right. We knew that the dealers would know it as soon as our plan was put to the test.

Hundreds of dealers who have been dividing their business have notified us that they have decided to sell Goodrich "Fair-Listed" Tires exclusively.

Tire Standards have from the first been set by Goodrich Products. Goodrich Safety Tread Tires are today, as they have always been, the Standard by which the merits of all Non-Skid Tires are measured.

Goodrich "Fair-Listed" Prices constitute the standard by which the prices of other tires must be judged.

Goodrich Leadership is more firmly established today than it has ever been in the past.

Goodrich Tires are better this year than we have ever been able to make them before.

The clippings reproduced show how the great newspapers, tire automobile editors, and the automobile trade journals as well as tire dealers and car owners helped us to carry this "Fair-List" campaign to a successful issue.

You know the superiority of Goodrich Tires. You also know about Goodrich "Fair-Listed" Prices—the prices that have knocked out the padding for the benefit of Tire Buyers. You know, too, that the verdict is overwhelmingly in favor of Goodrich Safety Tread Tires.

PRESS CALLS SINKING OF LUSTANIA MURDER

Editorials in New York Papers
Agree Torpedoing Was Crime Against Civilization

Editorial opinions in New York newspapers regarding the torpedoing of the Lusitania by the Germans were in part as follows:

THE SLAUGHTER OF NEUTRALS AND NON-COMBATANTS.

The civilized world stands appalled at the torpedoes of the Lusitania, with the terrible loss of life—non-combatants, many of them citizens of neutral countries.

Henceforth is international anarchy upon the controlling factor in marine warfare. Henceforth is piracy on the high seas to be recognized and go unprotected and unpunished. Henceforth is the wanton murder of non-combatant passengers to be treated as a regular incident and go at that. It is for the neutral countries, and above all for the United States, to answer these questions. It is a time of American history, and the world is watching the United States.

WORLD CHAOTIC.
(Kansas City Star.)

The destruction of the Lusitania shows the world chaotic, its normal human sentiments twisted by passion and by fear, or fearful influences. War is hell. It is organized murder. It is the tragedy of the human race. It is the choice of man.

CALLS IT UNQUALIFIED DECEIT.
(The Journal of Commerce.)

The attack on the Lusitania is not war. It is simply attempted murder on a scale deliberately planned to inspire general consternation and fear. It is not the work of the naval force of a power bound by the laws of humanity. It is plain and unadvised piracy.

KINGING OF THE LUSTANIA.
(The World.)

It has often happened that men in cooperation have been claiming that the great nations of the world are allied to destroy the Lusitania or any British vessel that is launched out, but cannot be carried off as a prize. It is well worth considering whether such a vote to the world, as well as the destruction to the allies, will in the end work more to the advantage of the Germans or of their foes.

Grant that with every possible care taken to spare non-combatant life, there was nothing for the submarine to do but to destroy the huge transatlantic liner, since there was no way of saving her into a German port, it is not at all sure that the results will justify the daring of the undertaking and the success of its fulfillment.

DANGER'S POSSIBILITIES.
(Chicago Record.)

It is true that these Americans were on a merchant ship, but even so, the passengers aboard an enemy's merchant ships have rights under the laws of nations which cannot yield to the supposed exigencies of submarine warfare. And these rights are that of a reasonable regard for their lives and safety. The situation is full of dangerous possibilities.

SEEMS NOT TO CARE.
(Portland Oregonian.)

This latest event, which merely confirms us in an evidence of the war's tendency to involve us, as we may be said, in a long drawn-out fight, in respect we are in the same position as neutral nations. The Germans in their war on British commerce have made war on the ships of Holland, Norway, Denmark, and Germany. One would suppose that Germany had enemies enough in this war, but she seems not to care how many are added to the list of those already hating.

BRITISH NO LONGER RULE.
(Detroit Free Press.)

"Noting has happened in the North Sea zone that has demonstrated more clearly than the sinking of the Lusitania the loss of British control of the sea. It is a most vital to the interests. We may assume that it was chiefly to prove the sinking was less important than the destruction of the Lusitania would have been."

TAX RETURNS ARE MADE BY COLUMBIAN WOODMEN
Attorneys Agree Order Is Not Exempt Under New State Law

Paternal insurance orders are not exempt under the insurance bill of the 1915 legislature, as attorneys for the Columbia Woodmen have agreed. Monday the city's tax returns were made by the addition of $275,000 by that order.

Some weeks ago the Columbia Woodmen refused to make returns, claiming that the insurance bill, which is similar to one passed in thirty-five other states, exempted them from taxation. City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled that in his opinion the law did not exempt them from taxation, and if that was the intention of the legislature he challenged its power and notified the state constitution.

J. G. St. Amant, secretary of the Columbia Woodmen, stated Monday that the same bill exempts insurance orders from taxation in thirty-five other states, but that the law of this state does not. He said the law of this state does not exempt them from taxation, and if that was the intention of the legislature he challenged its power and notified the state constitution.

NO GUNS OR MUNITIONS ON LINER, SAYS WINTER

Cunard Official Declares Lusitania Was Absolutely an Unarmed Ship

NEW YORK, May 10.—Hermann Winter, head of the passenger department of the Cunard Steamship company, today declared the Lusitania carried no guns, mounted or unmounted, and no ammunition of any kind.

It is true, Mr. Winter said, "that she had about 4,200 cases of cartridges, but they were small arms cartridges and ammunition. The United States authorities would not permit us to carry ammunition classified as such by the military authorities, on a passenger liner. Arms cartridges abroad on the Lusitania. The Lusitania had 1,200 shrapnel cases, but they were empty. There was no explosive of any sort aboard. As to the report that the Lusitania had guns aboard, I cannot assert too strongly to guns whatever aboard. The Lusitania was an unarmed passenger steamer. Furthermore she never has been armed and never carried an unmounted gun or rifle out of port in times of war or peace."

Basil Stockbridge, the young attorney and former assistant to the solicitor general who made the sensational statement to the Civic Forum that James J. Mr. Stockbridge refused to give the mayor the name of the former police commissioner from whom he says he secured the interesting information.

"What did the mayor say to you?" Mr. Stockbridge was asked as he left the conference.

"He reprimanded me in the Woodward style," smilingly answered the young attorney.

Of all the little Quaddies who live in the Green Meadows, the Smiling Pool and the Green Forest, none is more popular than Little Joe Otter. He is full of surprises, is Little Joe. Just when you are watching him down he goes and you never see him again.

HIS HOME IN DRAKESTOWN

TEMPLE, Ga., May 10.—Dr. W. F. Golding died at his home at Drakestown Saturday. He had been, for a long time, president of the Temple Banking company, and a director in several other banks.

Dr. Golding was twice elected to the Georgia senate and was at one time candidate for congress, withdrawing before the election in favor of a personal friend who was in the race.

He was a Royal Arch Mason and was for a long time worshipful master of the Drakestown lodge. He was sixty-five years of age and is survived by his wife, one daughter and four sons.

Just then there was a sudden splash under the water. His neighbors on land were startled. It started Jerry, and the first thing that Jerry did when he started to dive. He did this time when he came up Peter Rabbit was still sitting on the bank of the Smiling Pool.

"What was that that frightened me?" asked Jerry.

"I don't know. 'I'm sure I don't know.' All I saw was a splash in the water."

"Gurgling" cried Grandfather Frog in his deepest, gruffest voice. "I know anything. It startled Jerry, and the first thing that Jerry did when he started to dive. He did this time when he came up Peter Rabbit was still sitting on the bank of the Smiling Pool. The frog has been in the Smiling Pool in ever so long. It would be a good thing if Little Joe would settle down. He ought to have a house the same as I."

BARNES' COUNSEL ATTACK EVIDENCE OF ROOSEVELT

Judge Hears Argument on Motion to Strike Much of It From Record

(The Associated Press.)

STRATFORD, N. Y., May 10.—Counsel for William Barnes in his suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt presented arguments in the supreme court here today in support of motions to strike from the record much of the evidence precluded by the court in justification of the charges he made in the article on which the suit is based.

A great volume of the evidence put into the record deals with the printing situation in Albany. Justices Andrews permitted it to be given subject to a motion by counsel to strike it out. William Barnes argued for Mr. Barnes that the evidence did not show the printing situation in Albany to be corrupt; that there was no evidence Barnes knew of the alleged conditions, and that there was no proof that he used his political influence to create or perpetuate any such conditions.

DELINQUENT TAX PAYERS WILL HAVE TO PAY EXTRA

Penalty of 10 Per Cent Additional Attached to Failure to Make Returns

City Tax Inspector J. T. Collier stated Monday that the list of delinquent taxpayers, who have failed to make their returns, is now being prepared so the tax committee can enforce the clause in the law, which adds 10 per cent to the tax as a penalty for a failure to make returns.

Mr. Collier states that $5,000,000 of personal property returned last year for the year ending in 1915, besides millions of dollars worth of realty.

If the property holders do not make their returns at once, he says, and before the list of delinquents is completed, they will be liable for the penalty, even if the tax is not assessed for several months.

Like Greeks of Old British Use Ruse to Land men at Troy

DARDANELLES, April 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Constantinople.—History has duplicated itself on the plains of Troy, for by a ruse as ingenious as the wooden horse which gave the crafty Greeks entrance into the city of Troy the British succeeded in getting their first landing party ashore.

On the day preceding the landing, Turkish patrols noticed a huge collier, the British ship, which was apparently helplessly towards the shore. Finally the big boat struck bottom, and in the twilight the crew was seen to take to their boats and row hastily towards the sea, where other ships were evidently were cruising. Feeling certain that the stranded vessel was safe for the night, no attempt was made by the Turks to board her, but when the patrol approached again in the morning they were met by a sharp fire from 3,500 British troops, strongly entrenched and supported by a battery of field artillery. These troops had landed during the night from the apparent derelict, where they had been concealed below decks.

Then the mist off shore rose and disclosed a long line of transports from which troops were pouring into small boats. Under cover of the landing force, they reached the beach with comparative ease, and landed safely to consolidate the position.

AMERICAN MISSIONARIES ARE REPORTED IN DANGER

Armenians Weakening After Fierce Resistance of Turks and Kurds

TIFLIS (V. London), May 10.—American missionaries in the village of Van, where the Armenians appear to be weakening after a fierce resistance against attacking Turks and Kurds, are reported in grave danger.

The American missions are located in the eastern suburbs of the city, where for fourteen days the Armenians have been standing off their besiegers. Eleven hundred Armenian boys and girls and thirty American citizens have taken refuge in this quarter of the town.

The Turks have fired 15,000 shells on the defenders in the fighting of the last few days.

With feverish haste and for a time the small landing detachment was in deadly peril.

But their position was too strong to be taken by assault, and when the Turkish batteries got into action enough troops had landed safely to consolidate the position.

(By Associated Press.)
KINSALE, Ireland, May 10.—The coroner's jury investigating the deaths attendant on the loss of the Lusitania, returned the following verdict today:

"The jury find that the sinking of the Lusitania was contrary to international law and the conventions of all civilized nations, and was therefore chargeable on the captain and the crew of the ship, and on the government of the United States, under whose orders they sailed, with a crime of wilful and wholesale murder."

LIVERPOOL, May 10.—Charles Booth, chairman of the Cunard Steamship company, today gave the following statement to the Associated Press:

"With reference to reported statements by Lusitania passengers I shall not attempt to draw conclusions until all the facts are known, and I therefore decline criticism which is based only on assumption."

"In the meanwhile I can only state that I have complete confidence in Captain Turner's judgment."

Graves for 140 Dead
Dug at Queenstown

(By Associated Press.)
QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—A company of British soldiers today completed the digging of three large graves each 20 by 20 feet, in which the 140 unidentified bodies will be buried tomorrow.

The moving of bodies up the hill to the cemetery will begin at 2 p. m. and continue until 1:30 p. m. Then as the last ten or twelve bodies are to be determined to be buried in the graves available—moves to the cemetery, the funeral procession will march and the army will be present.

There will be a large number of clergymen of all creeds joining in the services.

Many children and little babies still lie in the morgues like so many dolls. The townspeople covered them with flowers today, and it is probable these little ones will be placed in a grave together.

Some on crutches, many limping and nearly all bruised, the sickening sight of their hotels in silent groups today. There were some Canadian soldiers, Canadians and English.

MANY CHILDREN THERE.
The presence of so many children on the Lusitania was due to the fact that Canadian women were going to Kinsale to join relatives while the husbands were at the front.

Not a single body was brought in today, but some bodies may yet be found if a storm does not scatter them. There will not be so great a number picked up, however, as was the case in the North Atlantic after the Titanic disaster, for that vessel received almost no loss at all on deck had ample time to search for bodies.

William Webb, representative of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, went to send out a tug today to continue the search for the Lusitania's bodies, but the admiral and Cunard line officials discouraged the plan, and it was abandoned. The captain of John Williams, nine years old, has been added to the list of American survivors.

NO STARBOARD BOATS.
Cornelius Horrigan, a waiter on board the Lusitania, testified Saturday evening at the opening of the bodies of five victims landed there, said it was impossible to launch boats from the starboard side owing to the steamer's list. He went down with the ship, but came up and was rescued.

Horrigan believed one of the five unidentified bodies was that of Steward Cranston, but was not positive, and was unable to identify the others. He said there was a male passenger about 35 years old, in whose pocket was found a business card bearing the name of John Wamamaker, of New York, and in the left hand corner of information, and also a second-class cabin ticket.

Veron Laverne, the ship's bugler, gave evidence that the water-tight compartments were closed, but thought the explosion must have burst them open.

BROUGHTON SAYS SINKING OF LUSITANIA WAS DELIBERATE ASSASSINATION OF INNOCENTS

(By Associated Press.)
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 10.—In his sermon at the First Baptist church last night, Dr. L. C. Broughton, former pastor of the Atlanta Tabernacle, who recently returned to America after three years' residence in London, referred to the sinking of the Lusitania as "a high way assassination of 1,500 innocent, non-belligerent men, women and children."

"Even the dark ages never knew anything so damnable," he said. "The act is an insult and an outrage against humanity, to say nothing of our American rights and privileges, and the government must deal with it with a hand that knows no waver."

He had enough of it, and the United States is bound to speak now," he said.

Lusitania, disaster, obtained by the United States, and here, as in brief and none reflects seriously on the behavior of the Lusitania's crew except what some witnesses consider the life boat fiasco. The affidavits of Miss Webb, who was on board, and the scattered morgues and placed side by side in the Cunard offices on the water front. As they were carried through the streets by British sailors the crowds uncovered.

CHEAP COFFINS FOR VICTIMS.
Cheap brown coffins contained the bodies of Mrs. R. D. Shum, of New York, the American widow of an English nobleman who subsequently married an American and had been living in New York. She was on her way to London, and her name probably will be added to the list of American dead. Her body will be sent back to the United States, as will as those of others, some of them starting last night.

Father Basil Maturin
a Lusitania Victim

LONDON, May 10.—It was learned today that Father Basil Maturin, of London, Oxford, perished on the Lusitania.

Father Maturin was born in Ireland in 1847. He was educated at Trinity college Dublin, and became curate at St. Mary's, Dublin, in 1876 and in 1887 to take charge of St. Clotilde's, where he became a Roman Catholic. He was a member of the Irish bar in 1898. He was the author of "The Irishman's Boy."

Lady Mackworth Tells
Story of the Disaster

(By Associated Press.)
COKE, May 10.—Lady Mackworth, daughter of D. A. Thomas, the Welsh coal magnate, declared in an interview today that she was on the Lusitania with a life belt the deck was inclined at a fearful angle, making it impossible to get about. She still was dead when the vessel sank and was drawn up by a life boat, but she was rescued and seized a board which was floating past.

She offered a corner of her frail support to a man who was struggling in the water but he soon relinquished his hold. Lady Mackworth said she began to feel the effects of her life belt, and must have lost consciousness for the text she remembered she was floating with her head under her. After another long interval she again began to feel the effects of her life belt, and must have lost consciousness for the text she remembered she was floating with her head under her.

German Flag Floated
While Lusitania Sank

(By Associated Press.)
DUBLIN, May 9.—Mr. C. Murray, of New York, a survivor of the Lusitania, who arrived here today, said that the German flag floated on the surface of the sea after the ship went down but not later in a ship in Queenstown.

Mrs. R. Hill, of New York, said that after the rescue expedition a mass of wreckage came crashing on deck, crushing a crowd of men, women and children. The work of extracting the people from the debris was in progress when the women and children were rescued to enter the boats.

Room after the Lusitania sank, Mrs. Hill adds, the submarine came to the surface, the German flag was run up, and the vessel remained above water for ten minutes.

THREE TORPEDOES FIRED.
Three torpedoes were fired at the Lusitania, according to the Rev. Mr. Guiver, the minister of the Church of England's Canadian railway mission. He said the third was fired while the last boat was being lowered.

When the Lusitania sank, Mr. Guiver said, a submarine rose to the surface and came to within 300 yards of the ship.

"The crew stood steadily on the deck," he said.

As for the fact that there is nothing that could explain the sinking of the Lusitania, he said, "The Lusitania was a fast ship, and she was not a submarine target."

SINKING OF LUSITANIA MURDER, SAYS BONAR LAW

Declares Britain in End Can Thank Enemy for Barbarous Warfare

LONDON, May 10.—"Our enemies have reached a degree of infamy, culminating in the destruction of the Lusitania, which it is simply hopeless to attempt to describe," said Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, in a speech today. Mr. Bonar Law's remarks were delivered on the occasion of the presentation of a medal to Captain Bell of the British steamship Thordis, which rammed a German submarine off Beachy Head in February.

"This is not an act of warfare," Mr. Bonar Law continued. "It is simply murder, most foul and most unwarlike."

"Saying that up to the present no neutral country, he added: 'What will happen now? The great proud nation—the United States—is the neutral country most closely affected by this latest outrage. The simple fact is that citizens of that country have been barbarously murdered. It is not for me to say what their action ought to be, but I feel sure the United States will be guided not merely by the interests of the country but feelings as to what is due to a great nation among other nations of the world.'

Mr. Bonar Law said that if the sinking of the Lusitania had the effect he believed it would on the feelings not only the British soldiers, but of the whole nation, "then we can thank the Germans for this latest instance of their barbarous methods."

BERNSTORFF SAYS HE REGRETS LOSS OF AMERICAN LIVES

States can be victim in far more effective way without declaring war. The withdrawal of Ambassador Gerard from Berlin, the severance of diplomatic relations has been suggested in some official quarters as one way of intensifying the feeling of American government. Other officials intimate that a complete severance of diplomatic relations until complete reparation and apology is made probably would conform to the wishes of American public opinion.

TO DEMAND REPARATION.
Before any such point is reached, however, certain preliminary steps must be taken. The German government, according to Ambassador Gerard's report from the German government on the facts of the sinking are received, it is expected that a note will be sent demanding full reparation, under the warning of the United States that Germany would be held to a "strict accountability," for the murder of American vessels "or lives."

The case of the American steamer Gulf Light, torpedoed without warning, attacks by German airmen on the American ship Thordis and the drowning of Len C. Thordis, an American, on board the British steamer Flava, probably will be grouped in the general representations.

Upon Germany's reply will depend the nature of the next step by the United States.

FRANK IS CALM AS DATE FOR EXECUTION IS SET FOR JUNE 22

States for the northern district of Georgia, and an appeal thereon to the supreme court of the United States, which said supreme court affirmed the judgment of said district court denying to said Leo M. Frank the writ of habeas corpus, and an appropriate order having been passed on the 8th day of May, 1915, by Hon. William T. Newman, Judge of the northern district of the United States for the northern district of Georgia, making said judgment of affirmation by the supreme court of the United States the judgment of the above named district court, a certified copy of which said latter order is of file with the clerk of this court.

And it further appearing that the sentence heretofore imposed on the said Leo M. Frank still stands in full force and effect and that no legal reason exists against the execution of said sentence, it is here and now ordered and adjudged that the sheriff of Fulton county, Ga., and he, be, hereby committed to do execution of such sentence as herein on the 22d day of June, 1915, in the manner and form designated in said sentence, and prescribed by law.

Let the petition and writ of habeas corpus and this order be entered on the minutes of this court, this 10th day of May, 1915.

BEN H. HILL,
Judge Superior Court, Fulton County, Georgia.

HUGH M. DOBNEY,
Solicitor General.

FRANK GAZON ON JUDGE.

During the reading of the order Frank gazed steadfastly at the judge. Mrs. Frank, apparently striving to control her emotions, closed her eyes and hid her face behind her handkerchief over them, and her teeth pressed into her quivering lip.

Frank rose when Judge Hill concluded, and walked out of the prisoners' door through which he entered, accompanied by Sheriff Mangum and Attorneys Rosser and Alexander.

Attorney Haas remained behind with Mrs. Frank. She watched her husband through the door. Then she gave a sob and sobbed while tears rolled down her cheeks. Attorney Haas and his friend took her, one on each arm, and led her through the prisoners' door.

Judge Hill took a recess for fifteen minutes. The crowd filed slowly out. The whole procedure had lasted scarcely more than ten minutes. The crowd had preserved the strictest good order.

At the door of the jail Frank was met by his mother, Mrs. Rhia Frank. "He was calm and self-controlled, smoking a cigarette. He gave his mother a brave smile. She put her arms around his neck and kissed him. Then they passed through the iron-barred gate of the jail and were lost to public view.

The remonstrance of Frank Monday night the final chapter in his court fight for life. There is no further appeal to the courts which he can make. He has appealed to the supreme court of Georgia and the supreme court of the United States and both have refused to have declined to interfere with the execution of the sentence. Frank's sole remaining hope of escaping the gallows now lies with the state prison board and the governor. Already his attorneys have filed with the prison board an application for a commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment.

WILL REACH SILENCE.

With the fixing of June 22 as the date for the execution of Frank's sentence, it became certain that Governor Slaton would be called upon to pass upon this phase of the case.

Governor Slaton does not go out of office until Saturday, June 26, four days after the date fixed by Judge Hill for Frank's execution. Therefore, he must either pass upon the application for a commutation to life imprisonment or grant him a reprieve.

Should the prison commission delay action on Frank's petition for commutation until after June 22, Governor Slaton will, without doubt, be asked to respite the condemned man for a sufficient period to allow the prison commission to consider the case.

On the other hand, should the prison commission go ahead and dispose of the petition for executive clemency before June 22 the petition will then be up to Governor Slaton.

Even though the prison commission does not call an extra session to consider Frank's petition it will, in ordinary course of affairs, come before that body for consideration at its June term, which begins on Monday, June 7.

Therefore, it appears quite likely that the question of whether Frank is to be hanged or his sentence commuted to life imprisonment will be decided by Governor Slaton.

Frank gave out the following statement concerning his resentments:

"Anything else I might say, at this time, would be but an elaboration of my words to the court. Yet, I am fully alive to the fact that my position is most precarious. It is a situation which is so far removed from anything that my life spoken. It is hideous, but at the same time, so unreal, so inconceivable."

"It is fundamental in human life to want to live. This desire to exist is ingrained in all of us—it is the basic moral of all that live. To those who have the proper ideals of living, life without honor is insufferable. This is the message of theology and ethics. In the light of the whole truth, I know—and the Almighty knows—that the money of my position in this case is unobtainable. This being so, my complete exoneration of this terrible charge lies in the future. When that day arrives, I will be enabled to enjoy freedom and peace, and therefore, I want to live. The full truth and all of the facts of the case, when they come to light, as some day they will, will prove to the world that my assertion of innocence is the truth."

The legal arena is closed to me. The law is placed forever against further legal process. Yet the issue of guilt or innocence has been before but one court, that in which the jury sat. All subsequent appeals were made upon alleged legal and juristic errors; not upon the facts or the evidence. Since the jury heard the case, no court of inquiry or review has sifted the evidence. No decision of any appeals court has undertaken to predicate an opinion upon the record of the testimony and evidence. The guilt of the trial judge as to the doubt still remains.

ing of relief was as great in Japan as in western nations. The Chronicle estimates Japan from any charge of base faith towards her allies, and says there is little danger of Japan overcharging European or American rights in China, because she must obtain capital from white nations for whatever she undertakes, and because also her insular position makes her whole footing in China ultimately dependent on her new power.
